

Both ML models are dominated by trailing volatility information

SHAP values explain log-volatility predictions; grouped shares are descriptive, not causal.